

Artist Statement:

Hannah Butler

Through the influences of the environmental portrait and exploration of self-portraiture, my work aims to highlight the significance of the more mundane aspects of life between my husband and I. Throughout this series of photographs, a narrative takes form, providing a unique view inside the details of one's personal life. By choosing color photography rather than black and white, the work endeavors to be more than a documentary account. The incorporation of natural and artificial light works to evoke a subtle emotional response of connection to the images. The moments the images capture are not uncommon to many relationships and yet they are exclusive within each one. The small features of daily life are often unremarkable and therefore overlooked, yet these small moments provide significance through a sense of knowing in the quietness, augmenting the relationship between loved ones in the day-to-day.

Title	Original Format
Figure 1: All The Bed	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 2: Mush	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 3: Recharge	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 4: See You In a Bit	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 5: Half A Sammich	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 6: Line	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 7: Commute	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 8: Do We Have Juice?	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 9: D.E.A.R Time	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 10: The Matching Game (That I Hate)	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 11: Who's Tough	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in
Figure 12: Working	Archival Pigment Print, 19.5 in x 13.25 in

Figure 1: *All The Bed

Figure 2: Mush

Figure 3: *Recharge

Figure 4: See You *In a Bit

Figure 5: *Half A Sammich

Figure 6: *Line

Figure 7: *Commute

Figure 8: *Do We Have Juice?

Figure 9: D.E.A.R. Time

Figure 10: *The Matching Game (That I Hate)

Figure 11: *Who's Tough

Figure 12: *Working