Artist Statement

Emily Davies

My design pieces are often created in order to market a business or speak to a specific event or cause. Because of this, it has always been important to me to still draw from techniques and ideas learned through more studio based arts such as painting and drawing. In my own work I am able to pull from my love of simplistic painting and focus on good designs that are able to not only speak to that specific business' ideas and views, but also cause an emotional reaction, and be seen as a work of creative art.
